SiteJabber announces its alliance with Health On the Net Foundation

2. Février 2010 07:00

SiteJabber (http://www.SiteJabber.com), a leading provider of community reviews of online businesses and websites, announces its alliance with Health On the Net Foundation (HON). HON (http://www.HealthOnNet.org) is a non-profit, non-governmental organization whose mission is to promote and guide the deployment of useful and reliable online medical information. HON is accredited by the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. The HON Code of Conduct offers the most well-known certification scheme: “a multi-stakeholder consensus on standards to protect citizens from misleading health information.”

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information”

For websites that have earned HONcode certification, SiteJabber will be displaying their HON badge, assuring consumers that these sites comply with HON’s eight ethical and quality principles. A full list of HON certified sites on SiteJabber can be seen by visiting SiteJabber’s health page (http://www.SiteJabber.com/health).

Created to improve the quality of medical information for both patients and medical professionals, HONcode is not only the oldest code of conduct, but is also the most ethical and most trustworthy code for medical and health-related information on the World Wide Web. This seal gives end-users the assurance that this website is providing them with accurate and verifiable medical information. HON is accredited by the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. The HON Code of Conduct offers the most well-known certification scheme: “a multi-stakeholder consensus on standards to protect citizens from misleading health information.”

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information,” states Célia Boyer, Executive Director Health On the Net.

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information,” adds Jeremy Gin, SiteJabber Co-Founder.

SOURCE SiteJabber

Free!
Free Magazines

Recent Comments
Antibiotics for upper respiratory tract infection, sore throat, or ear infection
Scorpio39 a écrit: Hello, This information was helpful to me because... [Plus]

New product recall system

Search

<< RECOTHROM topical hemostat exhibits low rate of anti-product antibody formation | First Edition: February 2, 2010 >>

SiteJabber announces its alliance with Health On the Net Foundation

2. Février 2010 07:00

SiteJabber (http://www.SiteJabber.com), a leading provider of community reviews of online businesses and websites, announces its alliance with Health On the Net Foundation (HON). HON (http://www.HealthOnNet.org) is a non-profit, non-governmental organization whose mission is to promote and guide the deployment of useful and reliable online medical information. HON is accredited by the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. The HON Code of Conduct offers the most well-known certification scheme: “a multi-stakeholder consensus on standards to protect citizens from misleading health information.”

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information”

For websites that have earned HONcode certification, SiteJabber will be displaying their HON badge, assuring consumers that these sites comply with HON’s eight ethical and quality principles. A full list of HON certified sites on SiteJabber can be seen by visiting SiteJabber’s health page (http://www.SiteJabber.com/health).

Created to improve the quality of medical information for both patients and medical professionals, HONcode is not only the oldest code of conduct, but is also the most ethical and most trustworthy code for medical and health-related information on the World Wide Web. This seal gives end-users the assurance that this website is providing them with accurate and verifiable medical information that can be fully trusted. In order to receive HON certification, a website must comply with all eight HONcode principles.

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information,” states Célia Boyer, Executive Director Health On the Net.

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information,” adds Jeremy Gin, SiteJabber Co-Founder.

SOURCE SiteJabber

Free!
Free Magazines

Recent Comments
Antibiotics for upper respiratory tract infection, sore throat, or ear infection
Scorpio39 a écrit: Hello, This information was helpful to me because... [Plus]

New product recall system

Search

<< RECOTHROM topical hemostat exhibits low rate of anti-product antibody formation | First Edition: February 2, 2010 >>

SiteJabber announces its alliance with Health On the Net Foundation

2. Février 2010 07:00

SiteJabber (http://www.SiteJabber.com), a leading provider of community reviews of online businesses and websites, announces its alliance with Health On the Net Foundation (HON). HON (http://www.HealthOnNet.org) is a non-profit, non-governmental organization whose mission is to promote and guide the deployment of useful and reliable online medical information. HON is accredited by the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. The HON Code of Conduct offers the most well-known certification scheme: “a multi-stakeholder consensus on standards to protect citizens from misleading health information.”

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information”

For websites that have earned HONcode certification, SiteJabber will be displaying their HON badge, assuring consumers that these sites comply with HON’s eight ethical and quality principles. A full list of HON certified sites on SiteJabber can be seen by visiting SiteJabber’s health page (http://www.SiteJabber.com/health).

Created to improve the quality of medical information for both patients and medical professionals, HONcode is not only the oldest code of conduct, but is also the most ethical and most trustworthy code for medical and health-related information on the World Wide Web. This seal gives end-users the assurance that this website is providing them with accurate and verifiable medical information that can be fully trusted. In order to receive HON certification, a website must comply with all eight HONcode principles.

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information,” states Célia Boyer, Executive Director Health On the Net.

“We are excited about strengthening our commitment to guide the citizen to sound, accurate and up-to-date information,” adds Jeremy Gin, SiteJabber Co-Founder.

SOURCE SiteJabber

Free!
Free Magazines

Recent Comments
Antibiotics for upper respiratory tract infection, sore throat, or ear infection
Scorpio39 a écrit: Hello, This information was helpful to me because... [Plus]

New product recall system